

Projekt: TRAMP

transnational mobility of older people - working in teamwork projects in crafts

Aim of the project is to simplify the access to Europe for people with low language skills and to facilitate transnational mobility of older people in Europe.

The here chosen approach within the ENEA-Programme refers to international exchange programmes aimed at promoting the active involvement of older men and women as volunteers working for the general interest and features especially the transnational dialogue in teamwork-projects in crafts. The central idea is that there is an product-oriented approach, so that the participants language imbalances can be counterbalanced by working together for a common purpose. Furthermore there is an intergenerational approach as the older ones work together with and are supported by young people who can work as interpreters if the older ones have no or only little competencies in foreign languages.

Products:

- set of methods and techniques for exchanges
- 1 kick-off-meeting, 4 exchanges, 2 workshops, 1 transfer-conference: "sharing experience"
- data base „intergenerational projects“
- scientific evaluation
- recommendations for exchange programmes
- recommendations for an agency
- closing record / publication
- 2 videos (25.sec and projekt documentation)
- EU-workshop: european exchange-projects / incl. curriculum
- dissemination of t
- he results

Duration of the project: from 15/12/2007 to 15/12/2009

Funding: European Commission, DG Employment, social affairs and equal opportunities / ENEA

Partner countries: Germany, France, Czech Republik, Austria

Coordination: Arbeit und Leben DGB/VHS NW e.V.